Wright Investors’ Service

History
John Winthrop Wright founded The School for Ethical Education in 1995. As a nonprofit organization recognized as tax-exempt by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, SEE provides courses and programs for teachers, parents and students to advance ethical behavior in schools and communities. Mr. Wright’s vision for school improvement focused on expanding opportunities for teachers and students to learn how ethics in action creates character. This phrase became the school’s motto and recognizes the power of positive ethics in the creation of character. The core ethical concepts or virtues Mr. Wright desired to promote included respect, responsibility, caring, justice, honesty, truthfulness, courtesy, citizenship and the principles of the Golden Rule. The goal of positive character development is integrated into all programs offered by SEE. With the passing of Mr. Wright in 1996, SEE continues to receive meaningful administrative support from Wright Investors’ Service, a private investment management and financial advisory firm headquartered in Greenwich, Connecticut.

Vision
The School for Ethical Education (SEE) teaches strategies to (K-16) educators to put ethics in action for positive character formation of students.

Mission
The School for Ethical Education (SEE) recognizes the need for an increased focus on ethical behavior within human interactions. We also affirm the contribution of sound ethical reasoning in the advancement of ethical behavior. To promote our vision, SEE uses a variety of methods to provide educators strategies to support positive character formation in their students.
Program Year Summary

The School for Ethical Education (SEE) concluded its twentieth year while sustaining its core programs that include: Integrity Works!, which focused on advancing strategies for academic integrity in secondary schools; Laws of Life essay writing for Connecticut students (grades 5-12) to complete a writing assignment that helps students reflect on positive values; the John Winthrop Wright Ethics in Action award that recognizes Oz Griebel for business leadership that models positive character; the Youth: Ethics in Service (YES) program, that teaches strategies to implement service-learning and our teaching and consulting programs that included contracts with schools, the University of Bridgeport, Character.org (formally the Character Education Partnership) and other schools and agencies.

SEE administered Integrity Works! for an eighth year with funding support from the Richard Davoud Donchian Foundation. One Integrity Works! project focused on the creation of lessons to promote academic integrity in high schools. Teachers in Connecticut, New Jersey, New York and Massachusetts designed and taught lessons in social studies, science or English that supported student ethical functioning with a goal to resist cheating. In collaboration with Dr. Jason Stephens (University of Auckland, NZ), SEE piloted the teacher professional development to help teachers create their own class lessons. SEE evaluated the student responses in pre and post lesson survey responses. SEE is continuing this project into 2015-16 with the addition of schools recruited from Pennsylvania, Ohio, North Carolina, New Hampshire and Sarajevo. SEE also communicated with over 6,000 schools via an electronic newsletter and marketed Creating a Culture of Academic Integrity a published “toolkit” with many resources for secondary schools, AMIS (Academic Motivation and Integrity Survey) and an E-Lesson (to help students resist plagiarism) via SEE’s E-store. In addition, SEE administered its first annual Academic Integrity PSA contest and recruited, evaluated and recognized PSAs created by high school and university students that advocated for academic integrity. Selected 2015 Integrity PSAs links are posted on SEE’s PSA program page.

Over 2300 students from 19 different schools participated in SEE’s 15th annual Laws of Life Essay Program. The top ten essayists were identified and on May 6th a celebration was held to honor not only the students but their families and teachers as well. Over 110 guests attended the celebration at Amarante’s Sea Cliff in New Haven. The 2015 Ethics in Action award recipient Oz Griebel, CEO of the Metro Hartford Alliance, encouraged the students to clearly identify their own character goals to pursue true success in life. Wrapping up the project year, Dr. Wangaard’s chapter in support of best practices for academic integrity was published in Springer’s Handbook of Academic Integrity and he was invited to review an article for the Journal of Character Education and join the editorial board of International Journal for Educational Integrity.
SEE Financials
SEE moved to its own office space in Milford, Conn in January 2015. Wright Investors’ Service continues to provide meaningful operational support in terms of technology and administrative assistance. SEE’s overall income for the year was $251,775 and expenditures for the year were $242,983. SEE will thus carry over the modest amount of $8,791 into the 2015-16 program year.

Integrity Works! was meaningfully funded through a twelve month (two financial years) grant from the John Templeton Foundation where $9,679 was released in this project year. Laws of Life (LOL) received donations of $3,802, to administer a statewide LOL writing program and had cash expenditures of $15,431. Growth in donations will be sought to sustain this excellent character-education program.

Teaching and Consulting income of $7,033 represented a drop in fees for contracted services paid to SEE from previous years. Donations and payments to SEE’s annual Celebration totaled $10,425.

SEE continues to work to develop its base of individual and corporate funders to help establish a broader foundation of support for its mission. SEE welcomes the support of those who believe in the critical need to build positive character in support of the family, local schools, their communities and our nation. SEE’s vision is a progressive work and is moving forward with the positive expectation to advance ethics in action to create character.

To join us and make a donation to advance a vision of positive character, you may contact SEE through our website – www.ethicsed.org.
